

Welcome!

Welcome!

You are now an important part of our great union.

CUPE is a living, vibrant family united by a common bond. Our goal as workers is to continue to raise our standard of living and improve the quality of life we enjoy in our communities.

Your work, your concerns, and your future are important to us. That's what being a part of the CUPE family means. From coast to coast, there are always CUPE members standing with you. On the job and on the front line, you have a vast network of CUPE family and friends you can count on.

Together, we share the challenges and the rewards that come from building our communities. Together, we become stronger.

Welcome home. Welcome to CUPE.

Strengthen your voice within CUPE

Whether your goal is to have a say in bargaining or to one day be National President, CUPE has space for you to grow.

Working with the staff representative assigned to your local union, you're connected to CUPE's vast resources. From specialist help with communications, research, legal, equality, health and safety to top-notch materials on the issues, your CUPE support system is always at work for you.

Join a local union committee or start one. Anti-racism, global justice, women's wages, union-based literacy, and more. Opportunities to share your concerns. Opportunities to get involved from becoming a communicator or shop steward to adding your voice to CUPE's National committees and working groups.

Learn a little. Learn a lot. It's your choice. CUPE schools, training and tools help members take on issues or take up leadership.

CUPE was built by members just like you.

Your work. Your workplace.

That's why it's your voice that is so important within CUPE.

In thousands of workplaces across the country, CUPE members share your goals, share your concerns. We're on the front line together.

Improving wages and working conditions, protecting jobs, standing up for our rights whether it's for equality and respect in the workplace, or securing workers' health and safety – wherever you are, CUPE members are there working on the job and in our union.

From choosing your local union leaders to having a say in local bargaining, to setting dues and shaping CUPE's national policies, your voice counts.

Working with your local's shop stewards, committee activists and through your elected representatives, you always have a say. On the job and with your employer, CUPE is there.

CUPE – your voice in the workplace.
